Introduction and special features

Businesses in the twenty-first century face constant changes that impact upon their success. Developments in innovation, advances in technology, economic fluctuations, political movements, and social shifts all present issues that businesses must respond to. As the processes of globalization make the business environment more competitive and challenging, businesses need employees with the skills to understand the new international realities and understand risk and opportunity when developing sustainable business models. The BA (Hons) International Business degree will help to develop such skills and knowledge in preparation for a future career in a range of organisations.

This degree includes an appreciation of the wider social hinterland impacting upon international businesses, with modules related to international business economics, ethics and responsibility, the influence of international political decision making, and the impact of culture all designed to provide exposure to a wide range of business activities. Such modules are underpinned by theoretical concepts and applied to contemporary examples to give all students a detailed and rounded experience in preparation for either a related career or future study.

As signatories to PRME (Principles for Responsible Management Education), York Business School are committed to integrating corporate responsibility and sustainability within all operations. PRME is a United Nations initiative seeking to inspire and champion responsible management education, research and thought leadership globally. Issues such as corporate responsibility, sustainability and ethical behaviour are core to the principles of York Business School and as such are embedded throughout all our programmes.

By studying the BA (Hons) International Business with placement variant you will undertake a year in industry between the second and third year. This option provides invaluable work experience to support the applied understanding of the degree which is directly relevant to the international aspect of the degree and includes support from the university to prepare students in advance of placement, as well as offering support during the placement period.

Special features

Continuing professional development

You are strongly encouraged to undertake Continuing Professional Development throughout your studies to prepare you for the world of work. You will be able to develop a range of academic and professional skills through a range of activities, exercises and events under the guise of 'Success Lab' which will help you to progress through the course and into the job market and provide the work-based skills employers require.

Success Lab, a three-year programme that runs alongside your degree, has been developed in partnership with leading graduate recruiters and industry leaders. You will attend events and short courses that are offered in addition to your degree. We will offer you additional qualifications and experience in areas that are important for employers such as public speaking, Sage accounting and copywriting.

You will be offered the chance to attend exhibitions and make visits, to take part in our leadership and management programme and to attend a series of inspiring lectures with executive speakers. In the past we have hosted CEOs and Chief Executives from Pandora, Royal Mail, ASDA and Welcome to Yorkshire among others.

Study abroad

Note that to study abroad you must meet the university's standard study abroad requirements.

You have the opportunity (subject to meeting the University Threshold Standards) to undertake a semester or full year abroad<sup>2</sup> as part of your studies during your second year.

Learning, teaching and assessment

All modules are delivered through a range of teaching, learning and assessment strategies including lectures, seminars, guest speakers, tutorials, workshops and a range of events and learning activities.

You are supported initially in the use of guided learning strategies in Level 4 developing towards autonomous, well-judged use of collaborative and independent learning strategies in Levels 5 and 6.

Throughout the programme you will be introduced to a range of different teaching and learning strategies. For example, in Level 4 you will develop a thorough understanding of the fundamentals of Economics (Principles of Applied Economics) alongside a grounding in international business activity (Leading Global Business). At Level 5 you will develop skills in the first year to appreciate the impact of the changing global economy (e.g. Controversies in International Trade), alongside firm-level responses (e.g. International Strategy and Global Dynamism). Finally at Level 6 you will deepen your engagement with a range of social, political, and economic contexts that businesses operate in, with an appreciation that the changing international context provides challenges and opportunities in a rapidly evolving world (e.g. Contemporary Business Economics, Beyond Economics, MNCs in Emerging Markets).

You will undertake a variety of assessments which include the use of written assignments (often in the form of reports), individual and group presentations, exams and tests, and practical activities. An essential part of the assessment is to encourage both learning and the development of skills as well as preparing you for the requirements of the workplace.

You will have opportunities for formative assessment and feedback to inform your work prior to submission and you will receive detailed feedback on assessments to help you develop and continuously improve your performance whilst on the programme. Advice will be provided in relation to development, further areas for research and guidance on how to enhance your knowledge of business and practice.

You will have the opportunity for study support including academic writing and research skills to enhance employability and career development in the field of global business arena.

As a graduate searching for employment, you will likely come across the term transferable skills. Employers value these skills because they can be used in so many ways in the workplace. If you want to secure a graduate opportunity, you are going to have to demonstrate a specific set of skills needed for the role. Some of these skills will be specific to the industry while others (transferable skills) are those that you can build on and develop throughout your career. York Business School, seeks to develop and enhance your skills in communication, problem solving and team working through teaching, learning and assessment activities and the opportunities to engage in a range of activities which will not only support this but which will provide clear evidence of your achievement of them.
