

Est.
1841

YORK
ST JOHN
UNIVERSITY

Ecological Justice Research Group

INAUGURAL SYMPOSIUM

Wednesday 17 - Thursday 18 November 2021

The university's newly formed Ecological Justice Research Group comprises researchers from all five Schools and two Professional Services teams. This symposium will explore cross-cutting themes through ten-minute provocations and performances, structured discussions and a shared coffee break and networking time. All YSJU staff and postgraduate researchers welcome.

For further information contact
EJRG coordinators j.parks@yorks.ac.uk and c.heinemeyer@yorks.ac.uk

WEDNESDAY 1.00pm - 4.30pm
HG137 and HG138

Exploring research by YSJU staff on:
The campus lived environment as a living lab Arts/science collaboration in exploring sustainable futures

Employability and alternative economic futures

- Also including provocations by external speakers:
- Thom Cooper, Sustainability Manager, University of Leeds
 - Diego Maranan, Space Ecologies Art and Design (SEADS)
 - Prof Paul Chatterton, Sustainable Cities Group, University of Leeds

THURSDAY 10.00pm - 11.30am
HG138

Community/youth activism and social movements

Featuring research at YSJ on community organising for climate justice, climate psychology, youth activism. External speaker to be confirmed.

@YSJEcoJustice