Introduction and special features

Fashion Marketing is a dynamic and diverse discipline. It is continually evolving alongside technology and an increasingly accessible marketplace. This programme will introduce you to the exciting world of international fashion marketing and will explore key aspects of the discipline. With the growth of digital advancements and consumer power, the international fashion world is in the market for transparent, ethical and customer-driven strategies. The programme will examine the challenges faced by fashion marketers in today's dynamic and competitive business environment and how such challenges can be overcome. You will be exposed to the latest contemporary research in international fashion marketing to develop your critical thinking skills and develop and apply knowledge of the latest thinking. The programme offers opportunities to reflect upon, evaluate and apply key fashion and marketing theories and concepts as well as encouraging creative and innovative thinking in the application of relevant management models. Responding to the need for specialist graduates with disciplines in both fashion and marketing, the MSc International Fashion Marketing has been developed alongside industry to bring the practical and technical expertise needed to allow our students to compete and thrive in this exciting industry.

¹ January start applicable to full-time MSc International Fashion Marketing only

² The standard period of study will apply unless otherwise stated

You will explore issues that have significant impact within organisations by working with others and building on both personal individual experiences and comparing with those of cohort members. You will carry out projects and assignments designed to help you apply the theories, tools and techniques you learn. Much of the learning is developed through the establishment of collaborative learning communities of programme participants and tutors and you will become part of that community of learning. Your understanding is developed around the key skills, processes and practices of international fashion marketing. Solutions to real problems are suggested, discussed and analysed within the learning community with the support of tutors and fellow learners.

The York Business School MSc International Fashion Marketing brings together relevant contemporary academic theory and research with practical understanding of activities within organisations. This will be developed by enabling you to share knowledge, relate this to theories developed from relevant research, and learning by practical application. Through the development of an integrated and critically aware understanding of management in the context of contemporary fashion marketing issues, the programme involves you in a demanding process of personal and professional development.

Special features of the programme include:

- Enables you to develop a sound understanding of the skills necessary to undertake a role in any organisation
- Reflects the aspirations in the development of responsible and ethical managers
- Supports the development in the skills of fashion marketing in order to operate effectively and competently in an international context
- Assessment methods used to mirror organisational based activities
- Provides a supportive platform for critical reflection, through the application of academic theories to your real work situations
- Participation in active and supportive forums drawing on practical expertise
- Excellent personal and academic support. You will be allocated an academic tutor to support you throughout the programme
- Opportunity to gain work experience

Admissions criteria

You must meet the University's general entry criteria for postgraduate study. In addition, you must have:

- A Bachelor's degree or equivalent, achieved at Class 2:2 or above, from an approved university or institution
- or
- Current or recent work experience (within the last two years) appropriate to enable you to contribute to the programme

If your first language is not English, you need to take an IELTS test or an equivalent qualification accepted by the University (see <https://www.yorksj.ac.uk/international/how-to-apply/english-language-requirements/>).

If you do not have traditional qualifications, you may be eligible for entry on the basis of Recognition of prior learning \(RPL\). We also consider applications for entry with advanced standing.

Programme aim(s)

The overall aim of the programme is to develop your critical understanding and self-awareness of the issues relating to international fashion marketing, so that you may develop your own leadership skills and knowledge and develop both your individual and organisational potential.

The programme aims to reflect the aspirations in the development of responsible and ethical managers, supporting development in the skills of leadership in order to operate effectively and competently in an international context.

You will be supported as you:

- Develop critical awareness and understanding of business generally and specifically relating to international fashion marketing
- Develop the ability to connect theory with practice in creative and innovative ways and reflect upon the learning involved as well as the outcomes
- Develop critical awareness and understanding of the role of managers within the context of international fashion marketing, business sustainability, corporate social responsibility and ethics, helping you undertake effective roles in business organisations as responsible managers

Learning, teaching and assessment

A key part of the philosophy of the programme is that by bringing together relevant academic theory and practical experience, you can enhance your deep understanding of these elements, and develop yourself as an individual and as a leader.

All modules are delivered utilising a range of teaching, learning and assessment strategies including lectures, seminars, tutorials, workshops and global café style learning activities. Each module has a Virtual Learning Environment (VLE) where you and other master's level students will be encouraged to be involved with online debate and collaborative approaches to learning.

Some participants may not have been engaged in formal education for some time, and may never have studied social sciences at postgraduate level: support with study skills, conventions of academic analysis and writing will be available for you from the start of the programme module and will continue throughout your studies.

All modules are assessed through a programme of work undertaken whilst studying for the award. A range of assessment tools are used including presentations, critical essays, portfolios and reflective journals and case study work. Each module tutor will provide opportunities for formative assessment feedback to inform your work prior to submission.

You will receive detailed feedback on assessment to help you develop and continuously improve your performance whilst on the programme. Advice will be provided in relation to development, further areas for research and guidance on how to enhance your subject knowledge.

You will receive the opportunity for study support including academic writing and research skills to enhance employability and career development in the field of business management.

Placement year

The industrial placement is designed to address the demands of the business management profession and give you a competitive edge when it comes to your career. The work placement will provide opportunities to apply knowledge and skills learnt in the taught modules, enhance communication and interpersonal skills and improve employment potential. The placement component is for an academic year in duration, which starts after you have successfully completed the taught modules. During your placement, you will also work towards and complete your Business Consultancy Project.

It is ultimately the student's responsibility to secure their placement. The University will offer guidance and support and recommend students to many of our partners that have expressed strong support and interest in the programme.

If you are an international student on a Tier 4 visa, your CAS will have a course duration of two years, subject to your meeting the UKVI's standard requirements.

During the placement period, you undertake an internship within a partner organisation and complete the Business Consultancy Project. The placement year is only available to those students studying towards the award on a full-time basis.

Progression and graduation requirements

The University's general regulations for postgraduate awards apply to this programme.

Any modules that must be passed for progression or award are indicated in the Programme Structure section as non-compensatable.
